THE FLONZALEY QUARTETTE. ter Memorial Hall Dec. 8th-

The first concert in the Slater Memorial hall musical course will be given on Friday. Dec. 8, by the Flonazley quartetle. This excellent musical organization is no stranger in Norwich, having appeared here three years and in the Slater ball course, on which occasion it was most enthusiastically received. Since that time the recognition accorded this remarkable quartette has extended from one end of the country to the other. Unstinted praise has fol-

Miss Ridgeway Tomorrow Night.

Miss Ridgeway, the popular and well known reader, will give an enter-talment at the Central Baptist church tomorrow evening, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

By birth Miss Ridgeway is a southerner, a native of Atlanta, Ga., but most of her childhood was spent in the far northwest. While a student at the Linversity of Washington, Spo-kane, she neard Nella Brown Pond read Previous to that time, Miss Ridgeway had not thought of public reading as a profession, but such was the influence of Mrs. Pond's art and personality upon the young student that after the recital Miss Ridgeway announced to her friends that she would become a reader. As soon as she finished her course at the university, she went to Boston, and after two vears' study at the Boston School of Orntory and with Miss Emma Greeley, founder of the Greeley school of dramatic art, she was engaged by the Redpath bureau as a reader with the Temple quarretie. She was with this well known quarretie for two years, making a tour of the United States, but she is not one of those prophets who is without honor in her own country. Indeed, the most enthusiastic audiences greet her in her home state, Washington.
